Introduction to Your Birth Chart Report

What follows is your personal natal chart information, as well as interpretations of the positions and aspects in your chart.

With this report, you'll find out the positions of the planets in your natal chart by sign. The most personal of these are the Sun sign, Moon sign, Mercury sign, Venus sign, and Mars sign. Most people already know their Sun sign.

If your time of birth is known, you will also find out your Ascendant, or rising sign, as well as the positions of the planets in the houses of your chart. Additionally, aspects between the planets are listed and interpreted.

If the birth time is unknown, we cannot know the Ascendant or house positions. The natal chart shown here is an Aries chart in that case. Additionally, you may not know the Moon sign for certain. This is because the Moon changes signs approximately every 2-1/2 days. Less probable but still possible is a change of signs for the other planets and luminaries, depending on the planet itself (for example, the Sun changes signs every 30 days or so).

Each paragraph of interpretation refers to an individual position in your chart. All of these positions and aspects are some of the "parts" that make up a "whole"--you! Some of these interpretations will be contradictory, just as people are contradictory. A person can be timid in love and aggressive in business, for example. As well, we evolve and grow throughout our lives, facing challenges that help us to handle our positions and aspects in a different way. We all have choices, and one of the major benefits of astrology is the chance to understand ourselves so that we can work with our natal charts and improve ourselves. Any computerized report that interprets the individual placements in a natal chart is somewhat disjointed, simply because the different parts that make up the whole are not synthesized.

Some of the interpretations are more detailed than others. You can use this as a starting point and do some further reading about different positions (such as Moon in Libra, Saturn in the 10th house, Moon conjunct Mercury) in your chart by exploring our own site, other astrology sites, and by reading astrology books.

The tables show the technical details of your natal chart, personalized based on your birth data. Below the tables, you'll find your free birth chart interpretive report, and a chart wheel appears at the end of the report.

Planet Positions, Ascendant, & Houses

The following table shows the position of the planets in your chart, by sign and degree. You will also find the sign of your Ascendant and the signs on the cusp of each house in your natal chart only if the birth time is known. The Roman Numerals refer to the houses, where the Ascendant is also the first house and the Midheaven is also the tenth house. For example, if the sign Taurus is next to Mars, you know your Mars is in Taurus. If the sign Libra is next to Venus, you know your Venus is in Libra. If Cancer is next to Ascendant, you have a Cancer Ascendant, and if Leo is next to II, Leo is on your 2nd house.

Aspects

The following table shows the planetary aspects in your natal chart. Interpretations of these factors are found below. The numbers listed under the column "Value" serve as a relative rating system for each aspect and are determined based on the planets involved, the aspect type, and the orb of influence. Negative values suggest more stressful or challenging influences while positive numbers show more flowing, easy energy.

This is a wide table that may require you to scroll right on smaller screens.

Natal Chart Report

Birth Chart

This birth chart report shows the positions of the planets for Laura.

The Sun

The Sun represents vitality, a sense of individuality, and outward-shining creative energy.

The Sun is in Taurus

There is something very solid and substantial about Taurus natives, no matter what the rest of their charts say about them.

When Taurus natives work, they work hard. They do it with a steadiness that may rarely be considered quick--rather it's a dependable, plodding, and steady effort that has its payoffs. Security is fundamental to Taurus--some of them actively seek wealth, while others are content to be "comfortable." The Taurus definition of "comfortable" may not be exactly the same as the rest of the signs, but comfort is definitely a driving force.

Taurus natives are sensual folk--and this includes sex, but extends to pleasures in all areas: they delight in the sensual pleasures of food, a comfortable blanket, a richly colored aquarium to look at, the smell of flowers or spring rain, pleasing melodies coming from their stereos, and so forth. Some might even say they live through their senses more than most.

Although hard-working, their fixed and comfort-loving nature sometimes makes them appear lazy. This is only because they separate work and leisure so well. When they work, they work hard, and when they play, they don't really "play" as such...they relax. A Solar Taurus who has kicked their feet up is rooted there--you'd be hard-pressed to get them to move.

On a mental level, you'll likely have the same problem. Taureans stick with things and ideas, and therein lies one of the reasons why they are known for their stubbornness. Taurus is a fixed sign, and they have a fair measure of tradition and steadiness in their make-up that keeps them rooted. Though they are dependable most of the time, this generally shows itself more in habit than outright helpfulness.

The possessiveness associated with Taurus shows up in all areas of life in some way. Taurus likes to own things (and sometimes people)--a nice home, a piece of land (this can be modest), a paid-off car, that aquarium mentioned earlier, a couple of pets, and maybe a solid business.

In love and relationship, there is an earthy kind of possessiveness that may be considered jealousy by some. In reality, there's quite a difference between being possessive and being jealous. Taurus natives are rarely jealous and petty. They do, however, think of the people they love as theirs--it adds to their sense of security.

Short description:

She is strong-willed. She has charm, and she is tolerant and stoical. She likes pleasure and the good things in life. Appreciates the Arts.

Weaknesses: obstinacy, laziness. She can be materialistic.

Taurus with ascendant Sagittarius

Sun in V: The Sun is in the fifth house

You want to be noticed for your unique and special qualities and your creativity. You are happiest when expressing yourself in a special way, and attention comes your way as a result. You have a flair for drama and/or sports. You are proud of your fun-loving attitude toward life. Advice: As you demonstrate your ability to shine, avoid grabbing center stage all the time. Your happy disposition is enough to get noticed, but do find creative ways to express yourself, as this is the path to true happiness for you.

Key points:

She is competitive, creative, fun-loving, generous, affectionate, and loyal. She seeks appreciation.

-2 Square between the Sun and Neptune

You have a desire to be something special or to experience something more than the ordinary. You are a daydreamer and idealist.

It is easy for you to trust others, even (and perhaps especially) people who might seem, from the outside looking in, unsavory types. You seek to identify with something beyond what is normally expected of people.

You may have had a childhood that didn't help you direct or define your life. Perhaps the early family life lacked supervision or clearly-defined rules. A father figure may have been absent or distant and ineffective. You may have a glorified image of your father. Whether the image is very positive or very negative (or if it swings between these extremes), the image is not very clear or objective. Whatever the case may be, you struggle with defining who you are. You might gravitate towards the "wrong people" or get in with the "wrong crowd" in an attempt to define who you are. You might be susceptible to being taken advantage of by others, especially men or authority figures.

You may be easily led astray by peculiar desires or self-destructive habits. To add a greater-than-ordinary dimension of experience to your life that helps you to feel special and important, you might be attracted to Neptune-ruled behaviors, such as secret affairs, drugs, or other escapist behaviors. In some way, you may feel a strong urge to glamorize your role in the world. There can be some confusion about the past (such as remembering childhood experiences in ways that are far removed from reality) and a tendency to daydream about being someone more "important" than you feel you are.

You may struggle with early conditioning that made you feel tossed aside or neglected in some way and certainly not directed or supported. You are very sensitive, especially concerning any real or imagined blows to your ego.

If the natal chart shows a strong sense of reality and a robust mind (Mercury and Saturn are well-placed, for example), the negative interpretations of this aspect are less extreme. Still, you will come to recognize at some point in your life that you tend to engage in escapist and self-destructive fantasies and/or habits. It is useful to be able to connect these behaviors with their probable source, which could be a weakly-defined ego and identity in early life so that you can work on these issues in meaningful ways. You might also work on fears of being inadequate, which can unnecessarily sabotage you.

Key traits: She is creative, daydreamy, and compassionate. Her observations and insights are unique and fascinating, making her an original and helpful guide. She benefits from more routine or discipline (or a very different approach to these things) than was acquired from early life. She should aim to overcome the tendency to idealize people or situations or gloss over problem areas.

-47 Square between the Sun and Lilith

She has a self-destructive side to her that should be managed by confronting her fears. She might worry about a friend betraying her, although others find this person charming.

The Moon

The Moon represents the emotional responses, unconscious pre-destination, and the self-image. The Moon represents the emotions, and the Moon sign shows how a person expresses themselves when at home, at ease, and comfortable.

The Moon is in Libra

People with the Moon in Libra are friendly, warm, tasteful, tactful, and balanced. Lunar Librans feel safe and secure when they are in a partnership. They seem to always want someone tag along with them wherever they go -- even if it is to the corner store. They find strength and reinforcement in and through others.

People with this Moon position are quite charming. They can be very attractive to be around, and are often given to flirtatiousness. Rarely directly aggressive, they win your heart with their gentle and refined ways.

Moon in Libra people strongly need companionship. Without someone to share their lives with, they feel utterly incomplete. This is why many people with this Moon get involved in marriages or living-together arrangements quite young. Because this drive for harmony, peace, and sharing is so powerful, Lunar Librans are apt to do a lot of conceding. They are sympathetic and concerned for others, enjoy socializing, and revel in a good debate. Mental rapport with others is critical to them.

Moon in Libra natives can't help but see flaws in their environment and relationships. In fact, anything out of whack will bother them until it's fixed. Although diplomatic with acquaintances, when Moon in Libra natives argue with their long-standing partners, they rarely let up until they win. And, winning an argument is a Libran specialty--in fact, they may not even believe what they are saying but will adopt ideas just to get the last word. Living with Lunar Librans can sometimes feel like you are on trial, and Libra is the expert lawyer. Sometimes, though, Libra is defending you and supporting your point of view. They're tremendously fair and equality-minded, and they will always see the other side of the coin. This ability can leave them on the fence, undecided, even painfully so at times.

Lunar Librans' idealistic outlook and constant striving for the best, most harmonious lifestyle can lead to some discontent. Looking for that one (elusive) perfect way to lead their lives can detract from enjoyment of the moment. However, a Libra Moon also strives for balance and moderation, and once they discover that sweet spot, they're smooth, delightful, and extraordinarily kind and considerate.

Short description:

She is sociable and popular. Good judgment, she is intelligent and reasonable, liking social pleasures. Agreeable and fair. She values feedback.

Potential issues: instability in loving relationships, wavering, may give too much weight to the views of others and public opinion.

Moon in X: The Moon is in the tenth house

Changes of situation. She is concerned about getting old or feeling too dependent on others, tending to hark back to the past. Perhaps more strongly influenced by the father. Help from family or women can be notable on professional levels.

This position of the Moon indicates an emotional need for recognition, popularity, acknowledgment, and achievement. You may feel others expect a lot from you.

You can be quite charismatic. You are at your emotional best when you lead a structured and responsible life, but it can take time to get there. You may change your goals, ambitions, and/or your profession frequently in an attempt to find the perfect fit. There can be marked worries about living up to your image or the expectations of others. You could find that your private life becomes public more often than most.

At times, decisions may be too emotionally biased, or you might act on emotional whims far too often. Learning to set your own heartfelt goals is the challenge here, as it is unlikely you will find true happiness if you follow or adopt the expectations of others, which you are especially sensitive to. You are talented at taking on a nurturing or managerial role and quickly adapting to trends.

-36 Opposition between the Moon and Venus

Because you value harmony, you may find yourself giving in to others too easily, especially in the first half of your life. Resentment is possible, as you can feel that you are the one who seems to do all the acquiescing. There can be a distinct tendency to become friends (and lovers) with people too readily, perhaps due to a strong need for approval and a hunger for affection. As such, you may get involved with people who seem to really like you, and you fail to consider whether you actually like them back! It can work against you, as you are very charmed by the idea that someone seems to like and appreciate you.

Consequently, one of your life's lessons is to learn to discriminate more and to get in touch with what you truly want and need. To explain, in your chart, the functions of the Moon (which rules the emotions and feelings, among other things) and the functions of Venus (which rules social relationships, harmony, and partnership, among other things) are at cross-purposes. When you attempt to feed the needs of one function, it is often at the expense of the other until you find some compromise or balance.

This conflict can play out in various ways. For example, there can be partnership conflicts about parenting or whether or not to have a family. You may find yourself compromising your emotional needs to find and keep love. Peace and harmony are important to you--perhaps too much so, as people may too easily take you for granted.

Insecurity is something you must deal with at some point in your journey. Very sensual, you sometimes replace love with food or shopping! You can also be quite sexually active and sometimes quite lustful. You possess a distinct lazy streak. You are capable of working hard, but you truly appreciate luxuriating and enjoying as many pleasures as possible. Self-discipline simply isn't always at your disposal!

Key points:

Good intentions but moodiness and indecision. Delightful sense of humor. Intriguing and beguiling. While she is usually sweet and gracious, she can also be inconstant and capricious at times, possessing a changeable nature. A varied love life, ups and downs, unusual ideas.

80 Trine between the Moon and Jupiter

She is generally pleasantly composed, due to an inner sense of harmony and emotional balance. She is optimistic--and realistically so, most of the time--which contributes to her overall "luck."

She is able to get a real perspective on emotional matters that not only benefits her outlook, but also she is able to offer support to others when needed.

Broad-mindedness is a wonderful characteristic. Quickly finding humor in situations, she is generally warm and fun to be around.

Deep down, she believes in the basic goodness of people and of life in general, and this fundamental and natural attitude helps her to attract positive circumstances and to make good connections.

One of her best qualities is tolerance. Usually, she doesn't take life too seriously in the sense that she believes in having a bit of fun, enjoying life. Her hunches are more often than not bang-on.

Key traits:

She is frank, honest, optimistic, and generous. She likes good cooking and other creature comforts. Her friendships are sincere. She is smart and knows how to surround herself with the right people: She is appreciated at work, usually well-liked, and comfortable, seeing the bright side/humor, especially in the mundane. She is fair, always seeking the truth.

53 Trine between the Moon and Neptune

Positive aspect: She is kind and sympathetic, with a strongly compassionate nature. When in love, she is usually very devoted. In fact, she is devoted by nature, not only in matters of the heart.

There is an unmistakably compassionate and understanding side to her nature. She has a natural affinity to music. While everyone enjoys music, people with the Moon in harmonious aspect to Neptune respond to music as a vehicle to heal, relax, and uplift the soul.

Naturally perceptive, without even trying, she tunes into the feelings of others and the mood of her surroundings. There is a distinct emotional need to escape into the world of imagination and to withdraw from others at times when she needs to re-center herself, largely because she tends to "take in" a lot of mixed energies from her surroundings.

Strong and sudden feelings and hunches can overcome her. More often than not, her intuition is correct, although her imagination is also powerful, and she can read too much into a situation as a result.

Some laziness is associated with this position, which stems from a natural timidity and sensitivity apparent from youth. She may have been labeled "shy" in youth, and family members or friends may have jumped in to "save" her from situations that required boldness or aggressiveness. Thus, passivity was accepted, and, as an adult, she may be less experienced than most with reaching out or going after what she wants.

132 Sextile between the Moon and Pluto

She can often waver between a rich and successful domestic life and social success, perhaps having difficulty succeeding at both. Very perceptive and given to psychoanalyzing people. A strategist. Powerful emotions and intense feelings. Still, she usually can keep things to herself when it's wise to do so. This aspect is one indication of emotional intelligence. She is usually able to get support, backing, or loans when needed. Resourceful.

34 Trine between the Moon and Lilith

This aspect favors romantic and sexual relationships, giving charm, intrigue, and intelligence to the personality. Emotions are big, dark, and mysterious, but she embraces these things, instinctively understanding and accepting the many sides and complications of her feelings.

112 Sextile between the Moon and Ascendant

She has a good influence on the family, and the family usually gives back, loving and helping in return. She likes traveling, movement, and change. She thrives on contact and is open to other people, although this can be a moody interest. The experience of the outer world filters very much through her emotions. Very sensitive, highly observant, adaptable, likable, and somewhat of a chameleon.

230 Conjunction between the Moon and Midheaven

She has a strong sense of family, profound feelings, and may especially like children and animals. If there are changes in her professional life, they are most often for the better. There is a sense of forward movement, popularity with those in authority or in the professional life.

Mercury

Mercury represents communication, Cartesian and logical spirit.

Mercury is in Taurus

She is faithful to her ideas, unchangeable and quietly opinionated, persistent, but discreet. Likes all the pleasures life can offer. Careful in speech, deliberate, intelligent. Learns best through the senses, not through the traditional educational system. She possesses plenty of common sense, and her simplicity makes it easy to get from point A to point B in as few steps as possible!

Weaknesses: stubborn, obstinate, withdrawn, slow to react.

Mercury in VI: Mercury is in the sixth house

Medical profession. Serviceable and generous nature. May meet their soul brother at work, or (if not) through family contacts.

You are a person who thinks of all the details that others forget. Your mind is almost always turned "on" which can make you a little nervous. You are excellent at sorting things out, organizing, and making lists and associations. With your attention to the details and the mechanics, however, you might miss the bigger point! You are exceptionally helpful and others can count on you for making arrangements, researching, and offering advice. You truly love to feel useful. You might have some traits of a hypochondriac, as you notice all of the little aches and pains that others might overlook. Nervous tension could be at the root of many of your health complaints. Many of you are good at crafts, mechanics, or anything that requires good manual dexterity.

295 Conjunction between Mercury - Saturn

She is precise or strives to be mentally organized. She is able to study, concentrate, and focus, and often has the patience to work towards a goal slowly but surely. She may take time to get communications "just so" and prefers step by step directions. Respects tradition and rules, preferring a sense of order.

-74 Square between Mercury - Uranus

She likes debate and controversy, and, above all, to contradict. She may lack diplomacy and tends to dissipate her energy. She cannot stay in the same place for too long, especially mentally, preferring change even if it means a backward step in her career.

Venus

Venus represents an interest in emotions and values, exchange, and sharing with others.

Venus is in Aries

Venus in Aries people flirt by being up-front, direct, and even daring. They try to win you over by expressing how enterprising and independent they are. Their style of expressing love can be maddeningly "me"-centered, but the right person for them will find this approach charming. People get turned on by Venus in Aries' aura of innocent charm, even when they are being childish and impatient. Venus in Aries people behave in a childlike, fun-loving manner in love. They are turned on by energy and activity. Turn-offs include a relationship that is considered stuffy or too "mature", vagueness, and beating around the bush. In love, Venus in Aries people are hopelessly addicted to the conquest. In order for a relationship to remain fresh and new for them, they require plenty of stimulation.

Pleasing Venus in Aries involves fueling their need for action. Be direct, open, and honest with them -- they won't much like game-playing or evasiveness, unless it is in the complete spirit of fun. Feed their need for spontaneity, and appreciate their playfulness. Understand their desire for the relationship to remain young and fresh. Aries likes to take the lead in love (even if their Sun Sign is gentle Pisces) -- let them, at least most of the time. Indulge them their many whims, and understand that they thrive on competition, even when they're competing with you!

Short description:

Wants to take the lead in love, loving the conquest, can be a spendthrift with money, given to making impulsive purchases, seeks to keep things exciting in love. Very ardent. Spontaneous and charming in her direct and straightforward approach in love.

Venus in III: Venus is in the third house

May like everything that is beautiful, as well as decorum. Outstanding intelligence. She may work in a trade linked to beauty, fashion. Numerous but select friends.

You are verbally expressive, diplomatic, and aim to be tactful. You easily win others over with your words, whether it's because of a likeable facility with language, a beautiful voice, or a diplomatic use of words. You readily give out compliments. Some of you might use flattery to your own benefit at the risk of being ingenuine. You are generally a very good mediator, aiming to settle arguments quickly and restoring at least temporary peace. You have a mischievous side, however, and your desire to be tactful and polite with others doesn't always succeed. Some of you might engage in a lot of mind games, and others might eventually find out that you don't always mean what you say or say what you mean! You value mental stimulation and frequent changes of scenery in your love relationships.

43 Sextile between Venus - Saturn

She has a good grasp of reality and of duty. She is thrifty, reserved and usually not given to showing off. She likes truth and justice. In love, her sentiments are sincere and deep, she never plays false. She is, of course, faithful in love and friendship. She might love a much older person, appreciating that person's intelligence and good sense.

40 Sextile between Venus - Neptune

Her professional life can be creative or inconstant. She has a taste for the Arts, can be a dreamer, and may be easily influenced and romantic. She is emotional and very sensitive.

Romantic, creative, gentle, and adaptable, you naturally express the finer qualities of mysterious and dreamy Neptune in your love relationships. Your imagination is rich and your fantasy world well-developed. You are turned off by rudeness and crudeness, and are drawn to beauty in its many forms. You are very giving and generous, but may be a little on the submissive side, or sometimes downright lazy, failing to take the initiative when situations call for it.

-55 Opposition between Venus - Midheaven

She can have a difficult time integrating personal and public or professional lives effectively. Both areas may suffer at times due to indecision, inconstancy.

Mars

Mars represents the desire for action and physical energy.

Mars is in Sagittarius

When Mars in Sagittarius people get angry, they feel like running. They have to do something--not about it, but something else altogether. They don't have a lot of patience to wait things out. This is where the restless and adventurous nature of Sagittarius comes in. People with this position of Mars should seriously consider physical activity as the best means of anger management, if they don't already (naturally) do so. People with Mars in Sagittarius generally have a number of projects going at once. They are not known for their follow-through, however! They start up new projects, however, with admirable gusto. Their vision and optimism can get in the way of completing what they start--they want to do so much, and they trash things too easily when a new idea takes hold.

Most of the time, Mars in Sagittarius is playful and fun-loving. They love friendly debates, although they can go to extremes. Some take it personally when you don't agree with them--why wouldn't you agree, after all? Well, for one, you might (especially if you have planets in Virgo or Gemini) find plenty of holes in their arguments. The thing is, more often than not, they haven't thought things through, yet they're very passionate about what they believe in. Mars in Sagittarius loves to "wing it". Mars in Sagittarius people see themselves as warm-blooded folk. They are, but they sometimes run roughshod over others' feelings during their more passionate debates. They can be blunt with people, although if they have a more tactful Mercury placement, this quality will be subdued. Their direct, blunt approach is most obvious in bed. They're passionate lovers, and are turned on by open-mindedness and good humor. But, they are not usually patient when sex gets too intricate or serious.

Mars in Sagittarius can be a little hard to understand. Sometimes they seem to be the most easy-going of people--they love a good joke and a good time. Other times they are on fire--intense and impassioned about something or other. They abhor anything that fences them in. They need to feel like they have space. They're the ones who will run away when things get too serious or dull. They'll likely be back soon--it's just that they need to feel free for a while or they go batty. When these people argue, they can too easily pick up a moralistic stance that drives everyone around them crazy. More likely than not, however, they jump off their high horse sooner than later, and get back to having fun. Mars in Sagittarius is used to getting their way and persuading others to believe what they believe in. Every now and again, they face the few that don't quite buy their grand theories, or, worse yet, poke holes in their plans. This is when these normally fun-loving people get frustrated. In fact, they take it personally when others don't agree with their philosophies.

Mars in I: Mars is in the first house

She gets carried away a lot. She is provocative, impulsive, dynamic, and bold. Great spirit of enterprise. She has a great need for activity and may throw herself into projects without thinking of the consequences or possible setbacks.

Her reactions to new situations are immediate and pressing. She is an active, energetic, dynamic, enterprising, and possibly even forceful or aggressive person. She tends to begin new endeavors with gusto, although follow-through is not necessarily indicated by this position alone. Some might be rash, inconsiderate, or overly assertive. She can be fiercely independent, and she is usually direct and straightforward. Spontaneity is extremely important to her. Some might stir up trouble, whether consciously or unconsciously, when she is bored.

43 Sextile between Mars - Uranus

She possesses exceptional energy. She is impulsive but bold. She may take on risky enterprises for the good of the community. She will often pour tremendous energy into an endeavor. She has a great need for her independence, insisting on her freedom of action. Very open to new methods and different ways of doing things. Progressive and courageous. An innovator.

Jupiter

Jupiter represents expansion and grace.

Jupiter is in Gemini

She attracts the most good fortune when she uses her wit and ingeniousness, as well as when she is versatile, sociable, curious, and puts others at ease with friendliness and sincere curiosity. She values the intellect and sees opportunities to grow and succeed through intellectual, verbal, and written channels. She believes that intelligence and knowledge is the key to solving problems.

Jupiter in VI: Jupiter is in the sixth house

She can be quite lucky in the working world. She may sometimes lose a little in the world of business in the short term because of high principles and standards for dealing with others, but is likely to win in the long term due to these very same moral standards. She helps the sick and under-privileged with kindness. Charitable and kind. May overdo the good life, enjoy rich foods, and appreciate animals, the country.

15 Trine between Jupiter - Neptune

She is very generous and altruistic, helping people in difficulty. She knows how to listen or, at least, how to give that impression to make others feel heard. She is a dreamer with imagination to spare, fully enjoying the Arts.

-82 Opposition between Jupiter - Pluto

She might be tempted to manipulate or exploit to realize plans.

She is rarely satisfied with her achievements unless they are big. She is an opportunist, very resourceful.

20 Trine between Jupiter - Lilith

She could meet a partner much wealthier than herself. Good sexual understanding.

-67 Opposition between Jupiter - Ascendant

She appears to have a very honorable and generous attitude toward others, and others assume that she has their best interests at heart. Because others see her as tolerant, understanding, and wise, they may also turn to her for advice. May go to excess when eating.

13 Trine between Jupiter - Midheaven

She lives the high life, wanting to have fun but knowing what she wants and doing what is necessary to get it. She wants to - and does - succeed socially. This is a "work hard, play hard" placement.

Saturn

Saturn represents contraction and effort.

Saturn is in Gemini

May be somewhat self-conscious, avoiding small talk. May find making lighthearted acquaintances superficial. Can possess a serious mind, sometimes wishing to be more free and breezy.

Saturn in VI: Saturn is in the sixth house

She is a worker, very steady in all she does. She likes precision, method. She is serious and seeks continuity at work. She can focus on a job in the medical field where she will likely be successful, as she possesses all the necessary qualities.

7 Trine between Saturn - Neptune

Her plans are realized in a methodical fashion. She works hard to achieve success.

2 Trine between Saturn - Midheaven

She is ambitious, but in a deliberate, calculated, well-balanced way. She is persevering, mostly serious, and orderly. She climbs the ladder slowly but surely; if need be, she is willing to change her ideas. She is wise and experienced.

Uranus

Uranus represents individual liberty, egoistic liberty.

Uranus in Aquarius

May get over-excited at the start of a task that interests her. At times, her debonair personality can give others a banal impression.

Uranus in II: Uranus is in the second house

She has a lot of flair. She can be unreliable, inconsistent, or erratic at work, always ready for change, although with some changes in routines and dedication, can do brilliant work. She may do best with an out-of-the-ordinary job, in which case all goes well: otherwise, she might often change jobs and or financial ups and downs.

59 Conjunction between Uranus - Lilith

She lives through marvellous adventures - without much follow-up, it is true, but these leave happy memories. She can have many such adventures and fantastic love-at-first-sight encounters.

Neptune

Neptune represents transcendental liberty, non-egoistic liberty.

Neptune is in Aquarius

Generosity, especially enjoying resolving problems in order to satisfy everyone.

Neptune in II: Neptune is in the second house

She may prefer not to attach too much value to money, but if this is overdone, there can be quite a few problems in life concerning money and ownership. She might make money through artistic pursuits, but must avoid the potential pitfalls of putting too much faith in ideas that don't have enough grounding in reality. It's vital to seek out financial advice for significant ventures.

7 Conjunction between Neptune - Lilith

Love can dominate her life. She lives her love life to the fullest, and can be very passionate. Her partner may have problems on the professional level, but she is always there to give support. If the partner loses their job and their rhythm of life has to change, she accepts this. She is a lover, and faithful - the most important thing is that they love each other.

19 Trine between Neptune - Midheaven

Her plans can sometimes lack realism and are therefore often unattainable. However, creative fields can be enormously successful. Can maintain a mysterious but magical reputation.

Pluto

Pluto represents transformations, mutations, and elimination.

Pluto is in Sagittarius

Great aspirations: sexuality and love are idealized.

7 Sextile between Pluto - Lilith

She may lead a double life. She may have a secret love affair while having a good relationship with her partner. Most with this aspect, however, are highly perceptive and can keep a secret. Alternative views of relationships are likely.

39 Conjunction between Pluto - Ascendant

She has willpower and ambition, and almost always prefer to have her own way.

Lilith

Black Moon Lilith represents our darker, deeper natures that may be repressed or buried.

Lilith in Aquarius

She may have felt ashamed or uncomfortable for wanting to be part of a group, team, or community or for being one of the crowd. She can feel quite wary of people who seem to need these things. The answer is not to reject these basic needs since her behavior can be confused and extreme if these traits are denied.

North Node-South Node

The South Node represents our overdeveloped character traits. We are talented here but if we overdo this area of life or hold onto these traits to feel secure, we may stagnate. The North Node points to the qualities that we need to work on and develop to achieve inner balance and fulfillment.

True North Node in Cancer

She is excellent at managing, overseeing, and organizing. She is learning to work on her inner foundation, accepting her need to nurture and be nurtured. Her path is to moderate her tendency to over-manage her life and to relax her standards of achievement. As she does so, she discovers she more easily achieves her goals. She also learns to trust her instincts. Qualities to develop: willingness to be cared for or supported, subordination.

North Node in VII: North Node in the Seventh House

She tends fall back on depending on herself when cooperating with someone special can help her succeed and bring her better luck. The goal should be to involve others more and build diplomacy and cooperation so as to gain perspective and share the load. Her path is to listen to others instead of falling back on her automatic response to do everything on her own and call the shots. Qualities to develop: finding a middle ground, cooperation, harmony.

The Houses

House I is the area of self identity. The ascendant is a symbol of how one acts in life. It is the image of the personality as seen by others, and the attitude that one has towards life.

Taurus with ascendant Sagittarius

Ascendant is Sagittarius

The world is filled with adventure, new things to experience, and, most of all, hope, with this Ascendant. There is an unmistakable faith and enthusiasm with Sagittarius rising people. Grand schemes, big promises, and a willingness to explore and experiment are themes, although follow-through is not a strong characteristic of Sagittarius. These individuals are somewhat restless and often active people. They always seem to be looking for something that is just out of grasp -- and many do this their entire lives. They can be quite direct at times, yet they are likable enough to forgive for their faux-pas. Most have a lot to say and offer. Their insights and opinions are usually interesting and exciting, although sometimes lacking in details.

Sagittarius rising people have opinions about everything, and they just love telling others exactly what they are. Not all people with this position are outgoing folk, but they all have a way of moving about that at least exudes a certain level of confidence. Some might even call them naive or overly optimistic. Even the quiet ones don't shrink from life and from experience. One of the most obvious and endearing traits of Sagittarius rising is their willingness to keep up a sense of humor. Even when they're feeling low, they manage to find humor in life and have fun with whatever they do have. The placement of Sagittarius' ruling planet, Jupiter, will give more clues to how they go about expressing themselves. Jupiter in Capricorn, for example, might give a more sarcastic approach, but underneath there lies an unmistakable hope and spirit for living.

House II - the second house - is the area of material security and values. It rules money and personal finances, sense of self-worth and basic values, personal possessions.

Capricorn on House II

A cautious approach to money and personal finances, possessions. Financial success may be slow but steady. A hard worker. Savings are important. Patience with accumulating. Money situation improves with maturity.

House III - the third house - is the area of social and intellectual learning.

Pisces on House III

Ideas are somewhat changeable, and her humor as well. Travel, sea voyages or work connected with the sea.

House IV - the fourth house - is the area of home, family, roots, and deep emotions/sense of self-worth.

Aries on House IV

Lots of authority within the family. She knows how to take the destiny of the family in hand, to take charge. She is very energetic, very strong, knowing how to cope with life's setbacks.

House V - the fifth house - is the area of creative self-expression, romance, entertainment, children, and gambling.

Taurus on House V

A pleasant home, a charming partner, loving and sweet children, nice little meals, pleasant evenings with the loved one -- the good life.

House VI - the sixth house - is the area of learning by material transaction.

Taurus on House VI

Completely trusted at work. She knows how to keep a secret and can be of irreproachable honesty. Weak point: the throat.

House VII - the seventh house - is the area of one-to-one relationships such as marriage and partnership, and of social and intellectual action.

Gemini on House VII

Can marry or partner quite young. A second partnership may have less passion but a lot of friendship. Can be frightened of living alone in old age. She may prefer others do the talking much of the time.

House VIII - the eighth house - is the area of emotional security and of security of the soul.

Cancer on House VIII

Small inheritances possible. She usually plans well for old age.

House IX - the ninth house - is the area of learning that shapes the identity.

Virgo on House IX

She is devoted to all causes that bring comfort or help to people in difficulty.

House X - the tenth house - is the area of material action. The Midheaven represents the work one will do in one's life, the place one will take in the world of society. It becomes more important as one grows older.

Libra on House X

Contacts of all kinds will lead to social success, professional, through marriage, etc. She likes society life, friendships that could help professionally. Sometimes jobs connected with justice, but frequently involved with important and influential people.

House XI - the eleventh house - is the area of search for social and intellectual security.

Scorpio on House XI

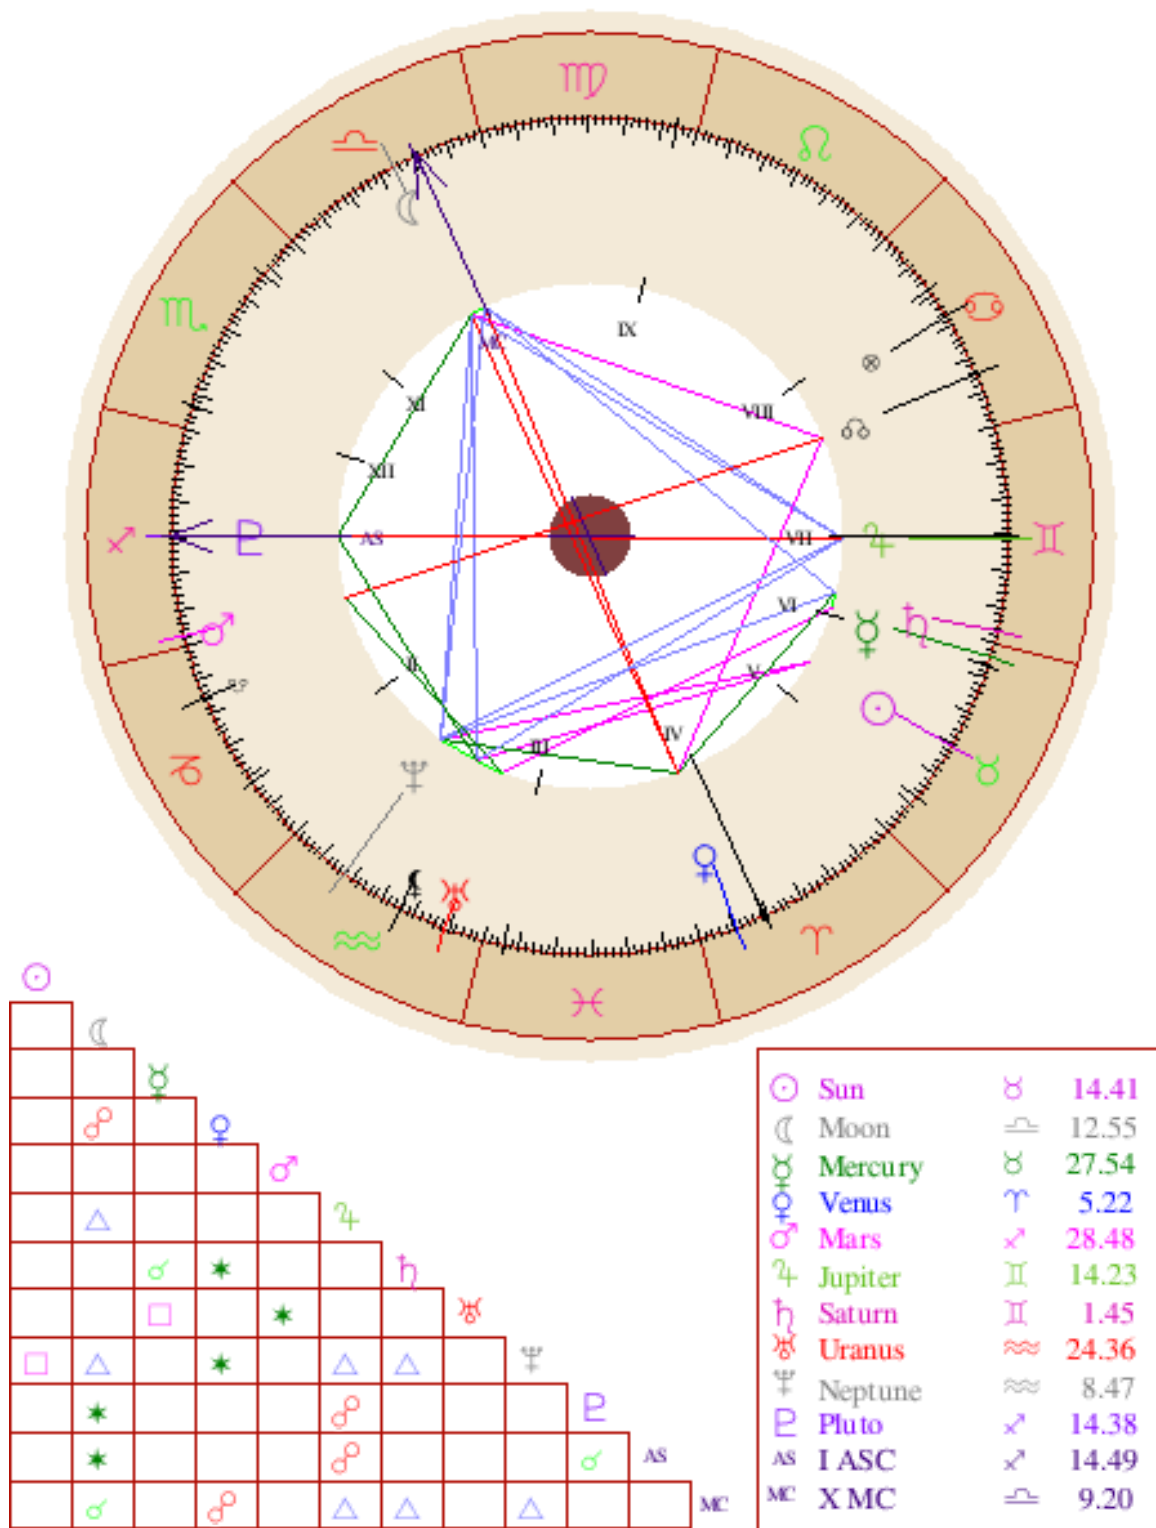

Her friendships tend to be intense and strong. There can also be strong feelings, never lukewarm or in between. She likes to debate endlessly with friends who don't share her ideas. The discussion can lead to words or verbal sparring.

House XII - the twelfth house - is the area of education and of emotion. This is where we meet our karma, deal with endings, and sometimes where we bury things.

Scorpio on House XII

Investigative work or inclination. She likes investigating other people's private lives.
